Well, it looks like we're loosing another beautiful, shady laager site to development as we circled up within piles of cut logs and brush. Sadly this means a longer run to reach the hills next time here.

Thanks goes to our stand-in registrar Su Su Nona helping Fussy Pussy while Invisible Man is away this month. Never be shy to step forward, it's our volunteers that make PH3 work. Speaking of which lets also thank Justin Beaver and Beaver for handling our Impedimenta sales complete with a shaded sales display, and to No Moral Compass for this weeks Horn. Well done all.

With the choice of using some bad-ass hills our hares were able to keep us at the lower elevations for the most part, giving us a nice run through the rubber plantations and a Buddhist retreat before a workable climb up for a view of Chalong Bay before descending back to the laager.

Hash Horn was given pink paper for breaking checks in the jungle and pink chalk for doing the same when on concrete. On his own he added some red when he took a spill while blowing the horn, peeling off the skin from both knees. Ouch!!

Respect for the GM – NOT

As Wilma was announcing the success of his DFZ (Dog Free Zone) policy for our laager in charged one of the mutts taking position on the ice, once the kids had finished trashing it that is.

At least Wilma was able to get the parents to help wipe clean the ice with their bare butts.

SADG called in Bum Scraper after he witnessed her dog jump from her truck upon arrival then swiftly run into the laager to take a shit. We know the dogs will never learn, but where should our expectations stand for their owners? At least there was a bit of pay back when Bum Scraper was later called in to receive her 777 Run Shirt and her dog just couldn't keep his nose out of her butt.

Other run offenses included Mr Fister getting in Billy No Mates and Billy's Only Mate (and Butt Plug as a witness) when during the run he overheard BNM claim he was going down on BM's ass. This delighted everyone in the circle, save Billy's Mate that is!

Our several Virgins were properly iced when it was noticed one had new shoes. When invited to remove them the sorry lad sat on the ice on his own. Not the brightest bulb in the chain, but he did well draining a shoe-full of beer.

Announcements made included Creature saying the Iron Pussy girls were headed east for a 3-day AGPU event for which she received our departer's tune, FOYCs with a clear ending of ...And don't come back!

With Returners welcomed and Departers sent on their merry way GM called in the Hares for the decision of the circle, which was solidly in favor of calling Good Run. Thus, Murkury retains the seat of dishonor as Hash Shit holder.

Circle closed.
