Hares: Not Long Enough, Tequila Slapper &
No Moral Compass (VH)

GM Wilma opened the circle announcing he was out of spray paint but the Dog Free Zone would be outside the ring of chairs and no sooner said than with a whelp JC's dog jumped into the circle followed by a smiling JC to politely accept a down down.

Hares in the circle brought in Not Long Enough with his co-hares Tequila Slapper and Virgin Hare No Moral Compass. It immediately came to point that it was Tequila Slapper's birthday to a round of HBYC from the circle, and TS, thanks for the food.

On The Game was called for being our Hash Horn for the day and was cheered from the circle for the great job she'd done, patching in the pink paper at each check, then working like hell to catch up with the front runners again before the next check. Everyone should remember to step aside, as soon as you safely can, to let the horn pass. Great job done today and OTG accepted a down down, of water!

Reversing order a bit King Klong was called in for a funny and relaxed steward spot. He called in hashers for all kinds of offenses. Hawaiian Ho had done a deal with a local madam to solve his overload of Viagra and took the bed price, but wanted to do it 4 times on the floor. SADG was called in for a comparison of hashing here to his upcoming trek to Annapurna Base camp. Although SADG came screaming back to the circle today claiming the run was totally too much, he was also claiming that Annapurna was going to be 5 times worse. Well, King Klong had done some fact checking and discovered the company SADG is using promotes this program as for anyone who is fit enough for seven hours of moderately strenuous walking. SADG, called out once again. How the hell does FA Cup put up with it. Butt Plug was called in for having the Haircut of the week!! which was akin to having some furry animal strapped to the top of your head. I thought it had sort an industrial application kind of look.

Run Offenses got rolling when Piss Drinker got in one of our virgins who'd been filming the entire run, so PD sent him down a false trail while he tied his shoe and waited for the virgin to eventually return. This was followed by PD jumping around and yelping as he imitated what the virgin looked like running through the pineapple field, which he can re-live when he watches his video.

GM brought in 2 virgin Russians and awarded them the privilege of enjoying a doubling up of PH3 down downs, but their faces changed when the beer was poured into their shoes for a proper drinking. Welcome to our hash guys.

Run Shirts got No Moral Compass for his HARE shirt. Welcome to haring and the fun it brings. Fat Bastard was presented a 50 Run Shirt, not for him, but for Just Perfect. Well done and keep running. Then we had a bit of a dilemma awarding a 25 Run Shirt to someone without a Hash Name. The circle bounced around a bit before agreeing that Toey would now be known as Toy For Us. Amazing, a shirt and a name in one day.

It was interesting listening to runners and walkers descriptions of today's trails, and quite frankly, Not Long Enough stood no chance, unless the calls were separated by age group. Listen to our visiting hashers, virgins and anyone not over 60 and it would be called a Great run. Reality dictates that NLE's peers are like his great uncle, or even grandfather. And what's great about this is NLE didn't give a rats ass. He gave the hash what they used to give each other when they were his age. This being said you could see the senior hares not joining in for hash shit because they understood, and remembered doing the same. They actually say well done! NLE and partners opened new trails that will be further explored, cleared, and broken in. I was impressed with their finding some long-abandoned tracks, and connecting them. A lot of hares have spent a lot of time on that hill and now we have more. Good run many say, even though Hash Shit was awarded. Hey think of it as jealousy, and remember Hash Shit is a great way of PH3 having some fun. But not always... Remember, GYW is watching!

Other Run Offenses had GM calling in On The Game because although she did such an excellent job rabbiting back and forth he could hear that the horn became less loud and less loud. OTG, BTW, is an excellent Hash Horn. Lesser Dipshit came in saying he'd walked the run and it was total shit! No Hope got SADG in because at least the up trail was steep enough so we didn't have to hear fuck, fuck, fuck all the time. Compari got JC in telling a story of life where the older you get the earlier you prepare. And, JC must be right up there because he already had his bike in the back of his truck, and the bike hash was the next day.

Our 4 virgins were properly iced and officially welcomed, we hope to see you again.

Departers sent off, and time to vote, and singing was dead except for No Hope so Murkury removed the ring of fame from Fungus, and dropped it over Not Long Enough. Circle Closed,
Fungus, scribe
