Hares: JC, Murkury, Gay Pig Fucker

Gay Pig Fucker Saves The Day

Apparently the hares JC & Murkury, like yoked oxen, became so confused trying to add a third hare that Gay Pig Fucker finally had to step in saying he could replace Philthy Pisshead (3rd hare on Hareline), who was apparently already a replacement for Bluey! And so started our day and thank you GPF.

We laagered at Paper's house (formerly JC's house) and the hares gave us the more considerate out-trail having a gentle upgrade allowing a bit of warming up before hitting the first climb. The only other choice from this laager is an immediate steep out-trail. This may have been the influence of GPF. Anyway soon conversations began dropping off relative to the grade's increasing steepness until only heavy breathing and scraping of gravel prevailed. All runs from this laager are a bitch and today was right on target for being that. However, along the upper reaches of the several hills we climbed we were treated to amazing views out over Phuket and since we spun in serpentine trails it was fun trying to ID what part of the island you were looking at. Often it's those walking the run who actually get to see the great views because the odds are high that any runner sneaking a peak will immediately trip over a root, stump, step in a hole, get caught in a vine or fall on a rock.

Invisible Man claimed we had 2 virgins today but because he could only produce one he was invited to drink the second set of beers instead, and took the welcoming ice bath as well. What a guy.

When the hashers wearing a shirt showing their name were called in Gorgeous, aka Gorgous, also came in but on the back it was very clearly printed No Cup! Hash Horn Bunneken Pis was called in and credited for having blown a good run while Runmaster Manneken Pis grinned, quietly bragging he had given her the horn so she'd have to do the run because he thought it was time for her to loose a bit of weight. No sex tonight!

Today's steward Go Go Trump gave the circle a brilliant spot totally forgetting she'd iced Always Wet, who eventually went numb in the butt and began turning around on the ice, watching the show and smiling—she was there a long, long time! GGT announced she was walking over toward Bobby Suks while asking how to tell a blind man at a nudist beach? “It's not hard!” she laughed and was off on a run, even giving us a competition between seldom-seen-in-the-circle performers racing to see who could suck all the beer out of an ice-cube tray first—using a straw, on their knees, with their hands behind their back. Scammer, fitting his name, somehow came in first but all the others suckers finally got their job done as well. GGT called in Lucky Lek citing true history that she always returns from America bring him special underwear before handing him baby-size panties because he'd lost so much weight during is time in the temple. He couldn't get them over his shoes but they did fit as a kind of hat. Great spot Go Go Trump!!

Hawaiian Ho was was stripped shirtless by Bunneken Pis and Jiggly Jugs then fitted into his 444 Run shirt. JJ got the circle chanting in support for her to drop HH's shorts while his hands were stuck over his head but thankfully spared us what would have most certainly been disgusting!

Hash names were awarded, departers sent off to FOYC, Good Run called and the circle closed.
