Hares: Bunneken Pis, Good Jobs (VH) & Tuk-Tuk (VH)

Moving straight to the Steward spot Tequila Slapper pitted men against women apparently to test some skill sets. So the men were given a round mango pressed between their thighs, then a boiled egg to balance on a fork clamped between their teeth before then putting their hands behind their back and waddling across to the woman waiting with a spoon in their mouth. Mangos dropped as eggs were rebalanced on forks again and again and the circle roared while the women waited with their spoons and smiles. Eventually GM Not Long Enough cleverly speared his egg and waddled into first place discretely using his thumb to push the egg off the fork and onto the smiling spoon. You can see all that education he's got paying off.

Tequila Slapper used this as a warm up to have men and women then compete pouring a beer into a waiting cup held over the head of the person behind them. Again the women came in first. Thanks for a great steward spot and all the effort Tequila Slapper put into stewarding today. And on top of that she's one of our Hash Flashes all over the place.

There was a lot of contention today over how much the hares really did on their own, and whether or not laying paper out a car window was fair practice, especially since 2 were virgin hares and learning the ropes. As it turned out they had an advisor, nay, a consultant who just by chance also was chosen by himself as runmaster to be today's horn which was easy as he knew the trails and could help correct some of the bad paper laying including the lollipop in trail being laid before the runners went out, bringing some runners back to the laager in 12 minutes. Also, not that it's true, but someone reported overhearing Manneken Pis say Bunnyken Pis said he could have anything he wanted tonight if he could get Good Run called.

Later, when chanting time came for calling Good Run or Hash Shit MP really struggled for a way out as the circle got louder with HASH SHIT. Seeing another no-sex-again night coming he cleverly victimized Campari for being too injured to run or walk today and only coming because he wanted to announce the bike hash himself. Campari was called in and the temperature heated up a bit. The GM got involved trying to support Campari boldly trying to get the Hash Shit seat over MP's head but Manneken Pis, having a mercenary background, finally won out and Campari was eventually crowned and iced with Good Run proclaimed.
