Hares: B.C., Julie Andrews and Anal Vice (VH)

The Laager site was up in the North East at Ban Ao Kung. Fortunately the rain stopped before the walk/run but unfortunately it had turned the area into a mud wrestling pit! Thankfully, there were no virgins to get down and dirty in it later on! Alzheimers struck again this week as the GM forgot his bag with his Hash bits and bobs in. Scud came to the rescue with a 'Hash Whistle' for Fungus to blow.

The runners and walkers set off together but split up along the way, with thunder rumbling overhead. It was a fairly flat walk, apart from a few very slippery steps up. It was a good distance, passing through pineapple plantations, rubber tree forests and single file boggy green bits. An inside source confirmed that the run was also very muddy. And it was hard to follow the paper because the downpour had hidden it in the long grass. However, the 'ski jump' was interesting.

The circle was late to start because the 'Chalong minibus' had got stuck in the mud and need some help to get out. Thank you to the 'Herculean Heroes' for getting it unstuck. It was touch and go and we thought we might have to sleep over!

No birthdays this week but the GM invited all the Thai ladies into the circle to celebrate Thai Mother's Day.

Lucky Lek was absent for the 'Announmen' but...

- Pooying Picnic Hash, West from Heroines Monument, 3pm Sunday 13th August.
- Ejackyoulate's funeral will be held at Chalong Temple, 5pm Monday 14th August.
- Mountain Bike Hash AGPU at Katathong Golf Resort in Phang Nga, Saturday 19th August.
- Iron Pussy 20 Year Anniversary Gala Dinner at Sabai Corner, Friday 15th September.

Circle highlights/run offences:

B.C. got the party started with some explanations of Hash names he has given, based on some of his favourite sexual manoeuvres; Gecko and Rusty Hook.

Apparently you can check in the Bible for more details.

Fungus called in Butt Plug who wasn't happy that the Hare's GPS location was wrong and the Patong minibus went on a scenic detour through the jungle too. Flying Dickhead said the information was correct but why not use 'what3words.com' instead (which happened to be bodysuits.vacated.compensation).

On the way to the Laager, Woodpecker surprised Manneken Pis by driving towards him on the wrong side of the main road – T.I.T.

A few weeks back, Tuna Fucker's arm was a sling, and mysteriously healed itself at the mention of 40 baht beers. A miracle!

BC detailed some more Hash names based on explicit sexual acts; Pink Sock and Snoodler. On the same theme, he was particularly happy with his naming of Swollen Colon many moons ago.

Scud volunteered himself for a run offence. He took a wrong turn on the paper and ended up at Ao Po. The kind minibus driver dropped him back on the right track and he lived to tell the tale.

Thank you to this week's Steward, What Da Ya Mean, who gave us a brief history on the origins of the Hash House Harriers. He used this theme to invite different people into the circle for a down down.

Swollen Colon (a resident historian, apparently) picked up What Da Ya Mean's baton and gave us a few facts about the Phuket Hash. Then he went on to tell us how he had helped Max the dog to become ball-less (a castration at the vets, not him doing it personally).

200 Runs shirt to Bunny Hop – I don't think she can stand still!

The Iron Pussy girls know how to drink and know how to party!

Welcome to the Hashers from the Philippines.

And goodbye departers. Is that Bobagob up there again?! 🎵
