THAI CONNECTION HARES, HAPPY SONGKRAN 2024

There was no question that PH3 hashers had a great time today—Thai style with scented water & powder, surrounding Songkran music and variations of Ram wong dancing in circles, snaking circles and some beer-fueled free-style. Of course water was creatively applied to young and old, especially the septuagenarians—maybe a message as TOTF gets his 444 shirt!

Our hares gathered runners and walkers explaining today would be an A to B run before packing about 48 of them into the bus for transport to the start inside the Bang Wad reservoir area. First into the bus were the Norwegians experienced putting sardines in cans.

Masarap and Fungus lead the runners through the first climb after noticing fresh paper over their paper from 3 weeks ago. Soon Fungus slowly worked back through the pack while Masarap stayed at the front. We did have a great check that the walkers finally discovered long before the runners. Well done hares.

Our circle was in the Chill Bar in Kathu complete with super-filled Thai buffet table with something for everyone.

Invisible man ran the circle through welcoming visitors and returners. Fungus snagged two girls who had no idea what the hash was and invited them to join for fun, food and beer and we would even invite them into our circle to welcome them as virgins. They did, much to the delight of the guys, as could be told by their eyes. Many bets were made whether we'll ever see them again.

Woodpecker & Paper loosed the microphone from Invisible Man's hands and ran competitive circles to the delight of everyone. Soon Paper loosed the microphone from Woodpecker and went wild putting hashers in their places, often including the ice.

From GM Invisible Man: HAPPY SONGKRAN to all the hashers, friends and families with good health and happiness all year.

Good run, circle closed
