Hares: Not Long Enough & Not Hard Enough

phuket-hhh.com

Not Long Enough, our former GM credited for bringing legalized pot to PH3, and Not Hard Enough co-hared today, April 20th, or 4/20, which for those of the early Granola culture remember as the police radio call-sign, a “420” marijuana incident.

The carved-out quarry laager site looked down the full length of the dam and over beautiful Bang Niew reservoir backed by deep green hills of jungle and rubber. Score one for the hares. Few laagers are as relaxing as this; we even had a cooling breeze and full shade for our circle.

The downward looking view was entertaining watching “lost” hashers drive around the fields and lanes searching for the laager. Again and again those arriving followed the same reasoning that since the first HHH from the highway into the narrow soi had flipped in the wind (obvious) pointing backward then the second HHH pointing to RIGHT must also be wrong – so they turned left as hashers overhead laughed! Score one for the hares providing entertainment over and over.

The trail was another form of entertainment. The “420” Hare's instructions got mixed in the beginning when Repressed One and Fungus headed correctly to the right once down the perilous chopped rock steps, however, the next batch down headed left upon correctly hearing “checking”, later strongly denied. And this is how the in-trail became the new out trail as everyone off in reverse. Later this turned the steep rocky dangerous section into a dangerous free fall instead of what should have been a dangerous clawing up, small tree handhold by small tree handhold. So became 20 runners slipping, sliding and skidding downward while some were clawing upward because the hare laid a false exactly here! Immediately all paper was destroyed. It was like watching a pack of monkeys clawing for tubers. Then the French showed up, walking the run in (our) reverse, adding their kids who promptly thought it was an Easter-egg hunt. Sometimes from up in the jungle could be heard loud calls “fuck you Not Long Enough”! Score one for the hares who were listening to all this entertainment from the road below, chuckling and drinking beer.

Not to be outdone NLE also was our steward today, pre-blaming steward-chaser Up The Back for the late reminder. NLE then gave the history of April 20 through time and history. Germans were called in for Hitler's birthday, Jaws for the Horizon oil spill and Fungus because he can be blamed for everything. Score one more for the Hare!

Assistance needed, free beer!

While working to capture our GM interacting with one of our hashers and taking pictures from several perspectives someone, and we need to know who, decided to jump their butt in front of the camera!!

So who's butt is this? Help ID and get a free beer in next week's circle. We must support volunteer efforts properly!

All other deeds done well, even over-well when a virgin had a bucket of water and ice poured down her ample cleavage. Score one for the welcoming team.

So the day ended by adding up the scores for: HHH signs; entertainment with danger on the trails; a beautiful laager site and great stewarding. Well, according to Runmaster Manneken Pis: $1 + 1 + 2 + 1 + 1 =$ Hash Shit—and so it was. Score One for the Runmaster. Circle closed.
